CESC to crack down on unauthorised cables

Mysuru, June 3 (OSR) - The Chamundeshwari Electricity Supply Corporation (CESC) has set a deadline of seven days for Cable TV operators and Internet Service Providers to pay the stipulated fee for regularisation of unauthorised cables tied to electricity poles. The drive to remove unauthorised cables will begin after seven days.

CESC has threatened to pull out all the unauthorised TV and internet connection Optical Fibre Cables (OFC) tied to electricity poles if the service providers fail to regularise them by paying the stipulated fee before the deadline or if they do not follow the guidelines while drawing cables through an electric pole.

The service providers have to submit an application for the purpose by paying a fee besides paying regularisation fee for each electricity pole they are using, said the Executive Engineer (Works and Maintenance), N.R. Mohalla Division, CESC, in a press release. Cables hanging precariously from poles are a safety hazard and can cause electricity mishaps and consequent damage if the guidelines are not followed.

Sadhguru inaugurates Wadiyar Foundation

Delivers two-hour discourse on 'Intelligence of Ignorance'

Mysuru, June 3 (NNN)- "Mysuru is one of the few cities in the country which is well-planned. More than 100 years ago, the city had the widest roads and all this is because of the legacy left behind by the Wadiyar dynasty. There is no other kingdom in Indian history which is more than 500 years old," said Isha Foundation Founder Sadhguru Jaggi Vasudev.

Delivering a talk after inaugurating the Sri Srikantadatta Narasimharaja Wadiyar (SNW) Foundation at Jaganmohan Palace auditorium in city yesterday he said, "I am also from Mysuru. Mysuru District has the largest number of water bodies on the planet and most of it was constructed by the erstwhile Maharajas. But in the last 35 years many of them have dried up and only the Maharajas cannot be expected to do everything, others should also work alongside."

Lauding the efforts of Pramoda Devi Wadiyar in starting the Foundation, he said the beautification of Sri Jayachamarajendra Art Gallery is very good. The Foundation has also embarked on other works which is noteworthy.

"India is a land of seekers. Hence, everyone here is used to asking questions. When Lord Krishna was delivering a sermon in Bhagavad Gita, all his dear friend Arjuna did was asking questions. And when Infosys Founder N.R. Narayana Murthy asked me how do I manage to talk about so many topics, I thought here is another question," he said.

Gazing at greener pastures

Avenues of livelihood and aspirants for jobs in the land in terms of both variety and numbers have mutually kept pace, obviously the latter outpacing the former by miles in our times unlike the scenario a few decades ago. The then male section of the country's headcount, accounting for half the total didn't have to take their place in the winding queues along with the other half mostly confined to the four walls of their homes. Given the subsequent emancipation of the females accompanied by unprecedented rise in their presence in schools and colleges including institutions offering professional courses, the earlier gap between avenues of livelihood and number of aspirants for jobs has tended to be steadily yawning, forcing the males to pull up their socks and bid without relenting to grab their share of the job market. In this backdrop, the country's unemployment scenario, worsening year on year has put the successive governments on the mat. The plight of youth with academic credentials far below par cannot be described in words to the extent it is hurting them and their parents.

In the course of the dialogue between the top brass in the government and the eloquent worthies of the political parties in opposition, the core issue of quality applied to jobs got mired in unsavoury exchanges surcharged with emotion, which rankled readers of dailies as even making pakodas was suggested as a way out of unemployment, not necessarily in good humour.

If one concedes the verdict often heard and sourced to the country's industry circles that not even one out of four graduates in engineering subjects coming out of the Universities across the land stands the scrutiny, one has to also concede that the requirement of quality talent needed in the manufacturing sector is unmet to a worrisome extent. The complex connect between quality jobs and quality talent is reflected delicately by the feature of nearly 80 percent of those who land jobs through campus placements by industry houses quite in a short time while gazing at greener pastures. A report by the Centre for Technology, Innovation and Economic Research published in a section of the press last week reveals that India's industry that has boomed for over 30 years employs four million people including a section directly employed but most of those indirectly employed are engaged in occupations that don't represent modernity.

The nation with an estimated population of 130 crore with a workforce of 50 crore, expanding by two crore annually needs a lot more. Factors that include take-home pay, job satisfaction, workplace ambience, future prospects of rising in hierarchy and so on compel everyone earning a livelihood to gaze at greener pastures. Grass is always greener on the neighbour's lawn.

FANBOY MOMENT: There are many first-time Members of Parliament this time and most of them are in the news for some reason or the other. Shankar Lalwani from Indore is one of them. When he reached Delhi to attend a meeting of the NDA Parliamentary Board, he noted that actor and fellow MP Hema Malini was also present at the meeting. Without wasting time, he clicked a selfie with the actor in the background. The selfie went viral in no time. When he returned to Indore and local leaders asked him about the picture, an embarrassed Lalwani backtracked: "I was just clicking a selfie. I had no idea who was sitting behind me," he told his Party colleagues. —In Business Standard

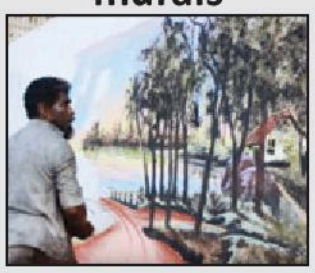
Creating elegant signatures for other people

Kranoyarsk: A student from Krasnoyarsk, Russia, has created a lucrative online service offering business managers and entrepreneurs custom signatures. 20-year-old Ivan Kuzin came up with the idea last year, when he turned 20 and had to change his passport. He realized he didn't like his signature at all, and since had already started his first business, which was already bringing in steady income, he decided to change it. Ivan turned to his friend, Anastasia Zdor, who had mastered oriental calligraphy while studying in China. She designed a beautiful signature for him and then patiently taught him how to write it himself. The whole process got Ivan thinking about offering designer signatures to others as a paid service.

The first client contacted them about a job within 12 hours. Then new orders started coming in, and when they reached 40, they had to hire another caligraphy artist, because Anastasia had a tough time coping with that amount of work.

Homeless artist paints incredible murals



Kollam: A homeless artist in Kerala, known by everyone as Raju has been painting walls and buildings with beautiful murals using only plant leaves, mud, charcoal and natural pigments. Judging by his dirty clothes and unkempt beard, one would think he was just one of the many street dwellers in Kollam city, Kerala, but he's actually an insanely talented artist.

For at least 8 years now, Raju has been entertaining the people of Kollam by painting beautiful murals on whatever clean concrete walls he can find, using plant leaves as paint brushes, and plant saps, mud, charcoal and natural pigments as paint. Whenever he starts, crowds gather around him. And for good reason. Despite his frugal arsenal of tools and paints, Raju's artworks are nothing short of awe-inspiring.

In a strange case, an extraordinary phenomenon took place on 18th August 2006 in Mumbai which still continues to be a topic of interest to this day. The usually salty seawater turned sweet in Mumbai that day. Curious people thronged to the shores to get a sip of the water that eventually attained the status of "holy water."

Motorists need awareness on hi-beam lights

Sir,

Of late the menace of hi-beam light usage is increasing on city roads, resulting either in accidents or discomfort for the vehicle(s) / people coming in the opposite direction. Adding to the woes, many two-wheeler manufacturers have upgraded to white / LED headlights.

These white / LED lights are powerful even in broad daylight. Manufacturers should consider going back to the old style of normal bulbs and the city Police can also insist on having "Bulls Eye" on headlights which reduces the "glare" due to hi-beam lights.

The glare from hi-beams will cause temporary blindness which affects the night vision of drivers for a while during driving. These few seconds are enough to cause fatal accidents leading to loss of precious lives.

In most cases, usage of hi-beam by motorists is the lack of awareness and usage even on city roads and in well-lit places too. It is better if the local Police create awareness among motorists on usage of hi-beam lights.

NOTE: "Bulls Eye" is a black sticker of about an inch in dia which is pasted on the headlight at the centre. This will cut down the intensity of glare of the beam.

H.D. Kumaraswamy to re-start 'Grama Vastavya'

Bengaluru, June 3- Compelled to turn the public perception about him and his Coalition Government around, Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy (HDK) has decided to reinvent 'Grama Vastavya', his popular village stay programme.

The CM on Sunday announced to re-start his 'Grama Vastavya' programme (overnight stay in villages) with an intention to make the administration more effective.

In a tweet, Kumaraswamy said he will begin 'Grama Vastavya' in Government Schools. The programme will help him understand the people's problems and the responsiveness of the official machinery.

However, HDK is yet to decide on the date and the venue for kick-starting the programme.

Kumaraswamy's village stay programme was a big hit during his last stint as the CM in 2006-07, when he headed the JD(S)-BJP Coalition Government. He had gained widespread public recognition and appreciation for visiting remote villages and staying at villages to directly interact with people and understand their issues.

Kumaraswamy is expected to kick-start the village stay programme by starting in a Kodagu village School before July when the Assembly will convene for the monsoon session.

Meanwhile, Tourism Minister and Kodagu District Minister S.R. Mahesh said in Mysuru on Sunday that CM H.D. Kumaraswamy's village stay programme had become popular when he (HDK) headed the JD(S)-BJP Coalition Government in 2006-07.

Maintaining that he is undertaking Grama Vastavya programme even now, Mahesh said that he has completed seven village stays after becoming a Minister a year ago.

Pointing out that as Kodagu District Minister, he was happy to note that the CM has planned to re-start his village stay at a Kodagu village later this month, Minister S.R. Mahesh said that the CM's village stay in Kodagu will largely help in addressing issues concerning Kodagu, which was devastated by floods and landslides last year.

Mysuru, June 3 (MK&BCT)- For a few hours, former Chief Minister Siddharamaiah chose to forget about the Congress débâcle in the Lok Sabha elections and chose not to criticise Prime Minister Narendra Modi like he persistently does whenever he gets an opportunity to do so. The occasion was an Iftaar party organised in city last evening where Siddharamaiah mingled freely with Muslim brethren to share food and happiness.

The mega event was organised at Prestige Convention Hall on Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway where thousands of community members and others had gathered. Donning a traditional tubeteika (a black velvet cap), Siddharamaiah sat with the community members to break the fast. He even served aromatic Biriyani to the people seated around him and many were eager to get a serving from the former CM.

Though there were thousands of people at the convention hall, Siddharamaiah was the centre of attraction. With his friendly gestures, he asked the people to celebrate the festival in the name of God and said that he participated in such occasions to promote universal brotherhood.

Later, along with his son Varuna MLA Dr. Yathindra Siddharamaiah, Narasimharaja MLA Tanveer Sait, MLC R. Dharmasena, former Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa, former MLA C.H. Vijayashankar, Sir Khazi Hazarath Moulana Mohd. Usman Shariff, City Congress President R. Murthy, State Women's Congress President Dr. Pushpa Amarnath and other leaders he savoured Biriyani, kebabs and a wide variety of snacks and deserts made for the occasion.

Speaking to reporters, Siddharamaiah said that he had come to the convention hall where members of all communities were celebrating the festival. "This is an occasion to spread the message of peace and universal brotherhood and social harmony. I do this every year and I pray for the well-being of all sections of the society," he said.

Kannur Airport authorities seek bus services from Mysuru

Mysuru, June 3 (UNI) In order to provide facilities to air passengers from Mysuru and Kodagu region in Karnataka, Kannur International Airport authorities have written to the Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) seeking bus connectivity services to the Airport from Mysuru and Kodagu.

Confirming the communication between the recently-opened Kannur International Airport authorities, KSRTC authorities in Mysuru said the Corporation had replied with a positive response provided the airport authorities secure the requisite permit from the Kerala Government for the operation of the bus services. The Kannur Airport authorities had sought bus services from Mysuru, Virajpet and Madikeri to the Kannur Airport.

Kannur International Airport, situated at a distance of about 200 km from Mysuru, has emerged as a viable alternative to Kempegowda International Airport Ltd. (KIAL) situated at Devanahalli on the outskirts of Bengaluru, also situated about 185 kms from Mysuru, to fliers from Mysuru and surrounding regions.

While the two airports may be more or less equidistant from Mysuru, the Kannur Airport is turning out to be a closer option for fliers from Madikeri, Virajpet and other parts of Kodagu. However, the road journey to Kannur from Mysuru and Kodagu will have to pass through the ghats prolonging travel time.

While KSRTC's Flybus, which operates twenty trips between Mysuru and KIAL, takes about four hours to complete the journey through Bengaluru, Ashok Kumar, KSRTC's Divisional Controller (Rural), Mysuru, said the bus journey between Mysuru and Kannur Airport could take about 5 hours and 30 minutes. Presently, KSRTC operates three services to Kannur every day including one Volvo bus.

Kannur International Airport authorities, however, have not specified that KSRTC introduce the Flybus service to the Airport. "Services will be introduced depending on the demand," Kumar said.

Sources in the hospitality sector said a few fliers have already begun booking their international flights from Kannur as they find the road journey to Kannur less cumbersome than the one to KIAL, which has to pass through the busy Bengaluru-Mysuru highway before navigating through the many traffic-dense roads of Bengaluru city.

CWRC team to visit KRS tomorrow

Mysuru, June 3(RK&DM)- As per the directions of the Cauvery Water Management Authority (CWMA), a team of Cauvery Water Regulatory Committee (CWRC) will visit KRS dam in Srirangapatna taluk of Mandya district tomorrow and the day after (June 4 & 5).

The team will receive inputs on telemetry-based real time data acquisition and transmission for online monitoring system for eight reservoirs coming under Cauvery basin.

Cauvery Neeravari Nigam Ltd. (CNNL) Superintending Engineer H.C. Ramendra is one of the members of the team. The team after visiting the KRS dam on June 4 and 5, will visit Mettur reservoir, Lower Bhavani Reservoir and Amaravathi Reservoir all in Tamil Nadu, Hemavathy, Harangi and Kabini Reservoirs all in Karnataka and Banasurasagar Reservoir in Kerala in the subsequent days.

The committee after completing the visits, will prepare a detailed report and submit the same to CWMA.

House burgled in city

Rs. 1.5 lakh worth jewellery, Rs. 1 lakh cash stolen

Mysuru, June 3 (SBD&KS) - Miscreants, who forcibly gained entry into a locked house in Nazarbad Police limits, have decamped with gold jewellery worth about Rs.1.5 lakh and Rs.1 lakh cash, according to the complaint lodged by one Savitha of Vidyanagar at Nazarbad Police Station.

In her complaint, Savitha has stated that the burglars have stolen 37 grams two gold necklace, 17 grams two gold bangles, three finger rings weighing about 20 grams and Rs.1 lakh cash kept in the almirah at the house.

On May 14, Savitha, along with her husband and daughter left for Kollegal to visit her mother and before leaving, she had kept the gold jewellery and Rs.1 lakh cash in the almirah. When the family returned on May 31, they found the rear door of the house forcibly opened. When they went inside, they found the almirah forcibly opened and found the gold jewellery and cash in it missing. She immediately lodged a complaint with Nazarbad Police.

Nazarbad Police have registered a case in this regard.

Leadership Lessons FOR DAILY LIVING

By Dr. R. Balasubramaniam

Yajamana Kempiah & leading in the present

Leadership is indeed a very much used and abused word. From Mahatma Gandhi to Hitler to the mafia don, everyone is called a 'leader'. I have always believed that Leadership is innate within every individual and one only needs to manifest this. One has to call upon our inner resources and respond to each situation adaptively to function as a leader. In my view, 'Leadership is an activity — a process of mobilising the resources both within and around us to achieve a common constructive goal amidst enormous uncertainty.'

I have seen many such manifestations amongst the indigenous tribals with whom I lived for more than two decades. Some of the finest leadership qualities that I saw manifest was from the tribal Chieftains (Yajamana). I would like to share the story of Kempiah, who was the Yajamana of the Kadukuruba tribe. He and his people were forcibly relocated in 1972 by the Forest Department from the Bandipur forests. Having lost home and hearth, they settled themselves on the fringes of their beloved forests and the hamlet was named as 'Kempanahadi' (hamlet of Kempiah).

When I first met him in 1987, Kempiah looked around 65 years of age and had his long grey hair tied into a bun. He carried his 'betel-nut bag' around his neck and one always found him chewing on it incessantly. Kempiah loved to talk and he would come to meet me every other day. Our discussions many a time turned to the lives of the tribals in the forest and we had many an argument. On one such occasion, the conversation centered on the emotional pain that relocation left.

He narrated the incident of his community being forcibly moved out of the forest in a very matter of fact manner. He neither had any anger nor hatred towards the Department that had caused such deep anguish for him and his people. I found his attitude strange and inferred that it was born out of helplessness and asked him how he could stay unmoved by all that had happened.

Kempiah's explanations left me speechless. He told me that though emotions had its own role in leading his people, he had to take care that he did not get carried away with it. He had to ensure that it did not cloud his judgement and he had to accept what came his way. As the Yajamana, he felt that it was his duty to stay grounded and not lose focus. Getting emotional would not only cloud his judgement but also possibly not get him to arrive at the right decision.

He explained to me that life in the forests had taught him to live in the present and not really worry about the future. The entire tribal culture and lifestyle revolved around life in the present and he lamented that moving out of the forest would have consequences deeper than what one could imagine. He went to add that his people would lose their way and move away from living in the present to worrying about their future and romantically dream about how they lived in the past. He was talking about what he needed to do to make sure that his people saw that more than the land and the forest that they had lost, it was the loss of the tribal interpretation of life that was more dangerous.

Looking back now, I can see the extraordinary visionary that Kempiah was. I can now explain his serene look and infectious humour. I now begin to understand that it is not the events themselves but how our own reactions and interpretation to these events shapes our leadership abilities. Kempiah was not just a Yajamana who had become one by an accident of tradition; he was a LEADER who in his own way had understood what self-awareness was and how critical it was in leading people under such difficult circumstances.

Kempiah is no more and I miss his loud laughter and pan-spewing conversations. More than anything the world will miss his brand of enlightened leadership that it needs so badly today.

"India fails to produce more Ph.Ds required for a growing nation"

Mysore Varsity ex-VC Prof. K.S. Rangappa at Nature Cure College Convocation

Former University of Mysore Vice-Chancellor Prof. K.S. Rangappa (centre) with Department of AYUSH Commissioner Meenakshi Negi and others at the Convocation ceremony of the Government Nature Cure and Yoga Medical College and Hospital at the Pathanjali auditorium in the College premises on KRS Road, in city on June 1.

Mysuru, June 3 (PM&NNN)- Higher education is one of the major contributors for the development of a nation and India's higher education system is the third largest in the world, next only to United States of America and China, said former University of Mysore Vice-Chancellor Prof. K.S. Rangappa.

He was speaking as the chief guest at the Convocation ceremony of the Government Nature Cure and Yoga Medical College and Hospital (GNCYMC&H) at the Pathanjali auditorium in the College premises on KRS Road, here on June 1 and said, however, India is failing to produce the actual number of Ph.Ds required for a nation to grow.

He pointed out that higher education and research can uplift the stature of the nation and in this direction the higher education institutions are expanding and the quality of education and research is improving in recent years.

It is not fair to compare our educational institutions with the ones in the West as we cannot match them in infrastructure and the reason for this is because though a few of our Universities are 100 years old, the ones in the developed nations have a history of nearly 1,000 years. However, in another 25 years our Universities will be in a better position, he opined.

Highlighting the importance of integrative medicine which the passing out graduates are dealing with, he said that learning about traditional folk medicine and integrating that with modern medicine will greatly enhance the treatment options towards various disease conditions.

Prof. Rangappa said that if the nature cure doctors are successful in identification of medicinal properties of a medicinal plant or bioactive component of a medical system, then a Chemist like him could synthesise the same bioactive principle in the laboratory.

Department of AYUSH Commissioner Meenakshi Negi also spoke. GNCYMC&H former Principal Dr. K.S. Shantaram, Principal Dr. G. Gopinath, Department of AYUSH Joint Director B.A. Sridhar and others were present on the occasion.

In all, 13 students were conferred degrees and they include: Dr. M.V. Divyashree, Dr. C.M. Kavana, Dr. R. Lavanya, Dr. R. Mary, Dr. Moulya K. Appanna, Dr. N. Naresh, Dr. Prajwal G. Gowda, Dr. N. Shivu, Dr. Shruthi Kambar, Dr. S.R. Vasanthkumar, Dr. M.J. Vedashri, Dr. M.J. Yogashri and Dr. Spoorthi R. Pattar.

NRN lauds Wadiyars' contributions to State

Urges people to participate in philanthropic causes

Sadhguru Jaggi Vasudev lighting the lamp to launch Srikantadatta Narasimharaja Wadiyar Foundation at Jaganmohan Palace auditorium in city last evening as Infosys Founder N.R. Narayana Murthy, Pramoda Devi Wadiyar, Kamakshi Devi, K.G. Ananth Raj Urs and Foundation Secretary Reginald Wesley look on. Picture alongside shows a section of the audience including Yaduveer and Trishikha Kumari Wadiyar.

Mysuru, June 3 (NNN)-Infosys Founder and Chairman Emeritus N.R. Narayana Murthy, lauding the efforts of the Wadiyar dynasty for its contribution to the all round growth of Mysore State, said that it was because philanthropically-minded rulers like Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar and Sri Jayachamaraja Wadiyar, who put people before self that the people today remember them.

He was speaking as the chief guest at the launch of Sri Srikantadatta Narasimharaja Wadiyar (SNW) Foundation at the Jaganmohan Palace auditorium in city yesterday and said that the true worth of a nation is when it can wipe tears of every poor in the country and bring joy to everyone.

Quoting Francis Bacon, Murthy said, "In charity there is no excess. The contributions of Wadiyars were there in all fields like education, banks, steel plant and other institutions."

And quoting Confucius, the Chinese Philosopher, he said, one should learn to distribute wealth and called upon the people to participate in philanthropic activities by sharing their wealth so that the society would benefit with such contributions.

He also lauded Pramoda Devi Wadiyar for launching the SNW Foundation thus continuing the royal generosity by trying to promote education, art and other activities.

Earlier, Pramoda Devi Wadiyar, in her welcome address, began on an emotional note recalling that her husband Srikantadatta Narasimharaja Wadiyar's life was never a bed of roses as he truly stood by the values and had to fight for everything that was legitimately his.

She said that she had been his shadow for all the years that they had been married till his sudden passing away and hence to continue the various projects that Wadiyar was keen on, the SNW Foundation was launched to complete the many ongoing projects and start new ones.

The Foundation was launched by Sadhguru Jaggi Vasudev of Isha Foundation, Coimbatore, who later addressed the gathering. Foundation Secretary Reginald Wesley introduced both Narayana Murthy and Sadhguru.

The members of the erstwhile Royal family Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar, Trishikha Kumari Wadiyar, Trustees of the Foundation Kamakshi Devi, Indrakshi Devi, K.G. Ananth Raj Urs, Prof. Rafiq Ahmed and others were present.

Kalpana rendered a mellifluous invocation. The highlight of the function was the beautiful backdrop of the stage with a muted antique look which caught everyone's attention.

'Pray for Rain': Muzrai Department issues order to temples

Bengaluru, June 3- Having received flak from Opposition and lakhs of farmers of drought-hit regions, Karnataka coalition Government now has a solution for State's impending drought: perform pujas and yagnas to appease Rain God Varuna.

Leaving no stone unturned, the Religious and Charitable Endowments Department (Muzrai Department) has announced that all temples falling within its jurisdiction will be performing a ceremony to appease the 'Rain God' on June 6.

"Due to lack of rainfall, people and wildlife in the State are struggling for drinking water. For the State's prosperity and for the growth of crops grown here, prayers have been offered in the past in the temples under the Muzrai Department in the State," the circular states.

"So, to help the State in the time of drought, the State Government has deemed it necessary that all temples under Muzrai Department begin 'Parjanya Japa' and special prayers. The State Government has also asked for the prayers to begin on June 6 during the Braahmi Muhurtha," it continues.

The Government wants to ensure that rain does fall, stating that chanting the 'Parjanya Japa' was necessary as the chant would invoke Varuna, the Hindu God of Rain, in addition to performing certain rituals which would lessen the drought in the State. It has been reported that the temples will be allowed to take Rs. 10,001 from the donation boxes towards the ceremony, stating that similar orders had been issued to tackle similar crises in the past.

Preparations at Hill Temple

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, Assistant Executive Officer of Chamundeshwari Temple Management Committee Govindaraj said the temple had received the communiqué and they were making all preparations to conduct puja on June 6. "Last year too, similar ritual was conducted as per the orders from the Government. This is not new this year," he added.

Want a gun licence in MP? Plant saplings, shoot selfie!

Gwalior (Madhya Pradesh), June 3- Want a gun licence? Plant trees and shoot a selfie — this is the new rule in Madhya Pradesh's Gwalior-Chambal region, known for its infatuation with firearms. An exception will be made only if the licence is sought because of an immediate threat to the applicant's life.

"Gun licence seekers will need to plant at least 10 saplings. If the person does not own land, the administration has earmarked revenue land where he or she can plant saplings," said Gwalior District Collector Anurag Choudhary.

Mere planting would not suffice, though. The applicant will be required to take care of the saplings for a month, click a selfie with them immediately after planting and a month later, and attach the pictures with the application. To further verify that the condition has been fulfilled, a report will be sought from the Patwari, a local government official, the Collector said.

The condition will be relaxed only if the licence-seeker is facing an immediate threat to life. In such cases, she or he would be required to plant saplings after getting the licence.

"We are also thinking of making tree plantation a condition for issuing permissions for petrol pumps and stone crushers. After all, it will make the environment better," Choudhary said.

"When I came to the function I did not know what I would be talking about as I am uneducated and do not have any structure in my mind. But after Narayana Murthy asked, I thought I will talk about 'Intelligence of Ignorance' because in the cosmic space we are all just minuscule, compared to what is there all around us," the Sadhguru said.

"Indians cannot stop asking questions and only thing an Indian can do is ask questions and this is an Indian question. But if you think you know, then there is no question. However, we are still asking 'Who am I?'" he said.

Talking about good intentions, he said, people having just good intentions can end up doing terrible things and then regretted the excessive focus of education system on the intellect.

"Intellect is like a sharp knife which dissects, and for instance one is dissecting a frog to know about the functioning of its body, then man thinks he is doing something intelligent but all the time forgetting what the frog is thinking and if only man realises what it thinks then he will feel sorry. Knife itself is not dangerous but it depends on how one uses it. This is what education does without realising the true consequences," he said.

"It always boils down to the question, 'What about me?' and this is a 21st century problem. But take away this question and I can make you a phenomenal human being. You keep thinking of the intellect and this depends on the amount of data stored in one's mind. But wipe out the data and then what happens is like having Alzheimer's where one is completely delinked from the data as the memory disc is taken away," Jaggi Vasudev said.

"Everybody thinks that there is only one Narayana Murthy and one Sadhguru. But that is not a good idea at all because for a nation to progress, a million strong NRNs and Sadhgurus are needed," the Godman said.

Talking about Charles Darwin's theory that man evolved from a chimpanzee, he said that there is just 1.23 per cent difference in DNA between a man and a chimpanzee. The only difference then is the cerebral activity that a human possesses.

On Yoga, Sadhguru said that Yoga means creating a stable platform in life. "Seeing me driving cars and motorbikes, journalists sometimes ask me how I could be driving these vehicles as a Yogi, when in the past the Yogis and Gurus only walked. I tell them 'you fools' those days Yogis walked because there was nothing else and the difference was they walked faster and better," he said.

Further, speaking about spirituality which again is a question he is frequently asked, he said, "Spirituality does not mean just being incompetent. If there is such spirituality then it should be banned. Yogis or Gurus must be involved in politics, science and one must think about humanity in this way. There was a time when women were punished for thinking but now things are changing."

The nearly one-and-half hour discourse was followed by a question and answer session. Before the questions began, Narayana Murthy said that he wanted everyone to follow a tradition which he had been following since 40 years and that was that a woman should first ask a question followed by a man.

To Murthy's question 'What is ethical behaviour?' Sadhguru said that a few things had been codified and one of them for instance was following traffic rules.

"The Mysuru - Bengaluru road which is 140 kms has 140 road humps. It would have been better if it had just been a mud track. We have fancy ideas but no ethics. What is always happening on our streets is conflicts because we do not stick to driving on the left side. These are the ethical issues," he said.

"Everybody thinks that there is only one Narayana Murthy and one Sadhguru. But that is not a good idea at all because for a nation to progress a million strong NRNs and Sadhgurus are needed."

Cauvery Calling

Sadhguru gave an alarming picture of River Cauvery and said that just like they had launched Rally for Rivers some time ago, Isha Foundation is launching another campaign called "Cauvery Calling."

"We are talking to both the Karnataka and Tamil Nadu Governments to save River Cauvery. The Cauvery has depleted by 46 per cent and in the next 40 years there could only be sand left. The Cauvery basin is spread over 83,000 square kilometres and the only way to salvage it is by promoting agro forestry where a farmer who can earn Rs. 40,000 a year in a hectare of land can in 30 years earn Rs. one crore," he said.

Crippled nation

People are always seeking what they do not know and they are too lazy and have idiotic beliefs. For example when people buy new vehicles in the city, they drive up the Chamundi Hill without having learnt to drive properly and putting complete faith in Goddess Chamundeshwari. This attitude results in a lot of accidents. There are 1,40,000 deaths on Indian roads every year and according to a UN study every four minutes people suffer fractures due to accidents, thus becoming a country full of cripples, said Sadhguru.

Crack down on cables

Hence, cable television operators and Internet Service Providers have been asked to immediately contact the jurisdictional officials of CESC and provide them the necessary information regarding their cables tied to electricity poles.

After submitting the applications and paying the stipulated fee, they can obtain the necessary safety guidelines from CESC officials. CESC said it cannot be held responsible for disruption of cable television or internet service if they remove the unauthorised cables after expiry of the deadline. Cutting of OFC would lead to outages and cause inconvenience to the users.

Cables that dangle from electric poles are dangerous, especially during heavy rains as they turn death traps. "We have been asking the OFC operators to stop the illegal stringing the cables over electricity poles and have been regularly conducting meetings with them on this. But although they agree with us during these meetings, they go back to their old ways later," regretted a CESC official.

The press release states that keeping in mind the aesthetics of the city, laying of underground electricity cables was already under progress in a few areas and once the work is complete, the electricity poles will be removed from that area.

There are a couple of cables carrying internet and TV signals to homes along the electric poles and it becomes a humungous task for the linemen when the electric poles are uprooted due to rain or damaged by speedy winds.

Centre backs down, removes Hindi compulsory clause

Mysuru, June 3 (UNI)- Days after the draft version of the National Education Policy (NEP) 2019 caused a massive uproar for making the study of Hindi mandatory in non-Hindi speaking States, the Ministry of Human Resource Development (MHRD) has released a revised draft, removing the requirement. The revision to the draft comes after politicians and citizen slammed the draft for imposing Hindi upon States, in an alleged attempt to 'homogenise' the diverse linguistic fabric country.

The revised draft states, "In keeping with the principle of flexibility, students who wish to change one or more of the three languages they are studying may do so in Grade 6 or Grade 7, so long as they are able to still demonstrate proficiency in three languages (one language at the literature level) in their modular Board Examinations some time during secondary school)."

The revised draft does not mandate which specific languages students must study in middle school. However, the revised draft still advocates for the three-language formula, stating that it needs to be 'implemented in its spirit throughout the country, promoting multilingual communicative abilities for a multilingual country.'

The original draft stated, "In keeping with the principle of flexibility, students who wish to change one of the three languages they are studying may do so in Grade 6, so long as the study of three languages by students in the Hindi-speaking States would continue to include Hindi and English and one of the modern Indian languages from other parts of India, while the study of languages by students in the non-Hindi-speaking States would include the regional language, Hindi and English."

The original draft required students from non-Hindi speaking States to study Hindi and English in addition to their regional language.

Ramzan bandobust meeting

Mysuru, June 3 (RK&SR)- City Police Commissioner K.T. Balakrishna held meeting with the Police Inspector, Sub-Inspector level officials, other Police officials at his office in city this morning to discuss the Ramzan bandobust preparations.

The Commissioner discussed about the deployment of tight police security in the sensitive areas of the city like Mandi Mohalla, Udayagiri, Kalyanagiri, Beedi Colony, Dr. Rajkumar Road and other Muslim-dominated places during Ramzan festival to be held on June 6.

The Department has also taken a decision to deploy sufficient Police personnel in order to prevent any untoward incidents right from the early morning prayers to midnight Tarawih prayers as well as around Mosques.

As many shops will be opened in the above areas for 24 hours, Police will also deploy mufti teams to prevent eve-teasing and chain-snatching. Police had already conducted meetings with Muslim religious heads to ensure free conduct of Ramzan.

Deployment of Police drawn from various units, installation of high definition cameras along the procession route among others issues were discussed at the meeting.

Deputy Commissioner of Police (Law and Order) M. Muthuraj, Traffic ACP G.N. Mohan, Narasimharaja, Krishnaraja and Chamaraja ACPs attended the meeting.

Prof. Mani Mathew: A tribute

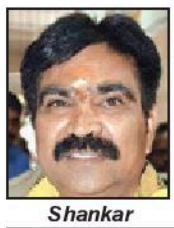
Cabinet expansion on June 5; Induction of R. Shankar, Nagesh certain



Shankar

Nagesh

Bengaluru, June 3- The dissidence activities among State Coalition partners that has been prevailing since from the last few months is likely to come to an end as Congress High Command has given its green signal for Cabinet expansion to fill three Cabinet berths which are vacant now.

The Cabinet rejig will be held on June 5 (Wednesday). Earlier, it was decided to expand the Cabinet today but was postponed to Wednesday due to Amavasya, which is considered inauspicious.

Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy and Co-ordination Committee Chief Siddharamaiah held discussions among their party leaders and finalised the date for Cabinet expansion on last Saturday after seeking nod from their high command leaders.

Induction of two Independents R. Shankar (Ranebennur) and H. Nagesh (Mulbagal) seems to be certain for the Cabinet.

It may be recalled that leaders of the Congress and JD(S), held a series of meetings with Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy and AICC General Secretary and Karnataka in-charge K.C. Venugopal on last Wednesday and they did not arrive at a consensus on the proposal to expand or reshuffle the Cabinet and placed it before the Congress high command.

They had discussed various options in an attempt to placate MLAs who have been approached by the BJP with offers of Ministerial berths and differences cropped up between coalition partners on the issue.

Though there are three vacant Cabinet berths including Congress (1) and JD(S) 2. Nearly a dozen Congress MLAs and JD(S) are aspirants to become Ministers. Both the parties decided to induct two independents and one from Congress.

As induction of independents Shankar and Nagesh is imminent during this Cabinet rejig, Congress leaders are considering the options of inducting Hirekerur MLA B.C. Patil, Chikkaballapur MLA Dr K. Sudhakar or Congress rebel camp leader Gokak MLA Ramesh Jharkhiholi to the remaining seat. Congress has entrusted the responsibility to Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy to convince miffed Ramesh Jharkhiholi to join his Cabinet.

Meanwhile, Siddharamaiah is said to have recommended CM HDK to induct B.C. Patil if Ramesh is unwilling to join the Cabinet.

As JD(S) has given its two vacant seats to Congress to fill from its quota, several JD(S) MLAs are said to be unhappy with the CM's move on surrendering its two vacant Cabinet berths to Congress and this is likely to trigger dissidence activities in JD(S) camp after the Cabinet expansion.

Both the coalition leaders have been making all efforts to save the government by Cabinet expansion. It is learnt that Mulbagal MLA Nagesh had met the State Water Resources Minister D.K. Shivakumar demanding Cabinet berth.

Coalition partners mull 'Operation' to counter BJP's 'Operation Lotus'

Bengaluru, June 3- Even as the JD(S)-Congress Coalition Government is struggling with dissidence in both the parties, the coalition partners are said to have decided to launch a counter plan to thwart BJP's 'Operation Lotus' aimed at poaching MLAs from the ruling coalition.

To lend credence to the coalition's counter plans, a photo of BJP MLA from Kanakagiri Basavaraj Dadesugur's meeting with CM H.D. Kumaraswamy has gone viral.

The coalition partners are said to have set eyes on poaching BJP MLAs Dr. Shivaraj Patil of Raichur, who was previously with the JD(S), Sirugupa MLA Somalingappa and Surpur MLA Raju Gowda aka Narasimha Nayak.

JD(S) Minister Venkat Rao Nadagouda, who represents Sindhanur Assembly segment in Raichur district, is said to have taken the lead in the efforts to bring the four BJP MLAs into the coalition fold in the coming days.

With his name figuring in the list of BJP MLAs, who are likely to jump ship, Surpur MLA Raju Gowda said that he was in a hospital looking after his ailing mother and as such, he had switched off his mobile phone. This has led to rumours about his defection. However, there is no truth in the rumours that are doing the rounds and there was no question of him leaving the BJP.

Vaastu-Feng Shui & Bio-energetics

Prosperous Homes for Wealth

The art and science of creating prosperity and harmony known as Feng Shui from the ancient oriental civilisation is not just a process of decoration but a tool to create an environment that has the best energy to support the specific activity, or activities intended for that space.

The ancient Feng Shui teachers felt there were certain parts of the home that corresponded to key areas of the lives of its occupants. Hence by working with these areas or energy centres, one could identify what was missing in the life of the occupants and work towards enhancing it by placing objects which would activate the Chi (energy)

Feng Shui can be adapted in decorating the house with the aim of creating loving, supportive and happy home. It is said that good Feng Shui is a perfect balance of energies in a place. Plants represent wood, the only one of the five elements, others are air, water, earth and metal all of which contain energy, or the life force. Within a building, Feng Shui is all about the placement of objects, including plants, for the best balancing of energy or Chi. The quality of Chi depends on the balance of Yin and Yang energies. The philosophy of Yin and Yang is that Yang refers to masculine, creative energy or the more active life force and Yin, represents feminine, passive, still energy.

The lack of energy or imbalance in a home space can be felt and it has a strong effect on the occupants. A home unoccupied over a long period of time brings stillness and stagnation of energies. Imagine a room, empty and uninhabited for years one can actually feel the stillness and cut the static stillness with a knife. However, in the same room if you place a potted plant, especially a lavender plant on the windowsill, you can actually feel the lonely space being infused with life. In other words what was done through Feng Shui was to introduce an element and activate the room with an object that has life.

For example, the living room needs the best balance of calm and active energy. A small water fountain surrounded by an arrangement of feathery and broad-leaved plants will create balanced energy or Chi. Hence the approach of adding or taking off an element in a space can create the right balance and one can achieve this through different approaches.

In Feng Shui, it is said that even symbolism has a relevance with regard to numbers and say for example you wish to enhance wealth luck, placing similar objects in threes which could be three bowls, or candle stands, or even pictures in shades of purple, red, gold or green would magnify wealth luck. To harmonise your home and invite fortunes you can look at :

- Displaying décor or your collections which you love or are precious like coin collection, jewellery or artwork.
- Placing inspiring art and other items that depict the things we want to bring into our lives in terms of wealth.
- Placing fountains, waterfalls and water features or pictures of flowing water.

A soothing rendition of old melodies

Mysuru, June 3 (US&MK)- Ninad Musical Trust had organised 'Ilayaraja Sangeethotsava' at Kalamandira here on Saturday evening featuring old melodies of Kannada, Tamil, Telugu and Hindi movies set to tune by the Music Maestro Ilayaraja.

The songs were rendered by Rajesh Krishnan, Sinchana Dikshit, Usha Kokila, Dr. Subhash, Sharanya, Neetu Subramanya, Devika, Prasanna, Dr. Brahmendra, Amulya, Kashinath, Nagavalli and others.

The programme began with Neetu Ninad rendering a devotional song. Sinchana Dikshit rendered 'Yaarigagi Aata' from 'Bharjari Bete', Usha Kokila sang 'Hrudaya Rangoli' from 'Pallavi Anupallavi', Subhash sang 'Ye Zindagi' from Hindi movie 'Sadma' and Neetu Subramanya rendered 'Chinna Thayaval' from the Tamil film 'Dhalapathi'.

Rajesh Krishnan teaming with Sharanya and Amulya rendered songs from popular Kannada movies 'Geeta' and 'Pallavi Anupallavi. The singers sang about 25 songs getting a good applause from the audience.

Speaking on the occasion, Rajesh Krishnan expressed happiness that the programme has been organised for a worthy cause. The Department of Kannada and Culture Assistant Director H. Chennappa, Music Trainer Dr. Suchetan Rangaswamy and others were present on the occasion.

ASHA workers take out rally, seek increase in wages

Mysuru, June 3 - Hundreds of members of Karnataka Rajya Samyukta ASHA Karyakarteyara Sangha, District Unit, affiliated to the All-India United Trade Union Congress (AITUC), took out a protest march from Hardinge Circle to the Office of District Health Officer (DHO) at Nazarbad in city recently, urging the State and Central Governments to fulfil their various demands.

Holding placards in their hands, they passed along the Circle near Office of Superintendent of Police (SP) shouting slogans against the Governments and Health Department for turning a blind eye to their demands.

Later, the Accredited Social Health Activists (ASHAs) also staged a protest outside the Office of DHO urging to increase their wages, to release past five months pending wages, to implement fixed working hours and holidays along with retirement benefits. They appealed to cancel the orders of releasing their salary after uploading such details to ASHA portal.

Demanding the Government to regularise the services of ASHA workers, the protestors alleged that the Union Government has not taken steps to fulfil their demands even after submitting several memoranda.

C.S. Seema, who led the protest, said that nearly one crore women were employed as ASHA workers under various programmes across the country. Of them, 27 lakh workers were engaged in Integrated Child Development Scheme while around 10 lakh workers in National Rural Health Mission programme, and 28 lakh workers in Midday Meal Scheme. Most of the workers are from weaker sections of society and they are living in pitiable conditions in rural areas without job security, she said.

Later, they submitted a memorandum to the Government through officials of DHO Office.

ICC World Cup-2019

Bangladesh stun South Africa

London, June 3- Bangladesh stunned South Africa to start their World Cup campaign with a fine 21-run victory at The Oval.

Bangladesh made 330-6 - their highest one-day total - with Mushfiqur Rahim scoring 78 and Shakib Al Hasan 75 in front of a passionate crowd strongly in their favour.

The pair put on 142 for the third wicket and, although both fell in the final 15 overs, Mahmudullah helped power his side to the highest total of the tournament with an unbeaten 46 off 33 balls.

South Africa, who were sloppy in the field, lost crucial wickets as they rarely threatened to complete the highest World Cup chase in history.

Opener Quinton de Kock fell to a shambolic run-out early on, captain Faf du Plessis was bowled for 62 and Rassie van der Dussen was dismissed for 41 in the 40th over.

The Proteas still had slim hope with three overs left, JP Duminy at the crease and 44 needed - but he played on off Mustafizur Rahman to depart for 45.

The defeat means South Africa have lost their opening two matches in the competition, having been beaten by England in the opener on Thursday.

Tobacco consumption causes 27,000 deaths every year in India

Judge S.K. Vontigodi flagging off the 'World Anti-tobacco Day' jatha organised by District Administration at the Anjaneyaswamy Temple in city recently. District Legal Services Authority Member-Secretary B.P. Devamane, Additional Deputy Commissioner G. Anuradha, Dr. Kusuma, Anti-Tobacco Forum Convenor Vasanthkumar Mysoremath and others are seen.

Mysuru, June 3 (MTY&NNN)- The consumption of tobacco inducing cancer is on the rise and every year 60 lakh people die in the world and 27,000 people in India, due to tobacco consumption. At least now, people should become alert and give up consuming tobacco, said Principle District and Sessions Judge S.K. Vontigodi.

He was speaking after inaugurating the 'World Anti-Tobacco Day' programme, organised jointly by the District Administration, District Health and Family Welfare Department, District Legal Services Authority and Indian Medical Association at Rajendra Bhavan in JSS Hospital premises, here recently.

The consumption of tobacco will have a great impact on a healthy society. Though there is warning on cigarette and gutka packets saying 'Smoking is injurious to health,' people addicted to smoking continue to smoke. As a result many are succumbing to cancer. According to a survey in India 27,000 people are dying of cancer and in Karnataka the number is 410 every year. Tobacco consumption also causes heart-related problems. Everyone should join hands to fight for a tobacco-free society, he urged.

When there is so much harm that tobacco causes, why it has not been banned, is a question that one naturally asks. However, it is not possible for the government to ban it completely, he added.

District Legal Services Authority Member-Secretary B.P. Devamane said that people must have a social conscience. All the messages on internet and social media need not necessarily be true. People should have the sense to find out the truth and check for facts. Just because one bags ranks in schools and colleges does not mean that one's knowledge has improved. We can see many people who bag ranks in foreign countries working on daily wages, he said.

If tobacco consumption is banned then there is a danger of using other drugs. Already ganja consumption has gone up, he said.

District Vector Borne Diseases Control and Food Control Officer Dr. C. Chidambara, District Surveillance Officer Dr. Kusuma, Indian Medical Association Mysore Branch President Dr. Suresh Rudrappa, District Surgeon Dr. Lakshman, Anti-Tobacco Forum Convenor Vasanthkumar Mysoremath and others were present.

Jatha: Earlier, Principle District and Sessions Judge S.K. Vontigodi flagged off a tobacco-free jatha in front of Kote Anjaneyaswamy temple. The students of various Nursing Colleges took out a march holding placards with slogans about the effects of tobacco usage. The jatha passed through Hardinge Circle, Mysuru-Nilgiri Road, Gun House Circle and reached the JSS Hospital premises. Additional Deputy Commissioner G. Anuradha and others were present.

'Rajata Darshana' commemorative volume released

Mysuru, June 3 (US&YDS)- For the first time the people of the country have voted without any bias in LS election piloting BJP led NDA to power faring even better than previous occasion with voters adding GST to the score, opined orator and columnist Chakravarthy Sulibele.

He was speaking at the valedictory of the 25th anniversary of Sri Krishna Dhama at its premises in Saraswathipuram here on Saturday evening. Sulibele observed that of late, a deity is being decorated more with ostentation than with pious dedication probably to draw the attention of more people. He regretted that people also take selfies with decorated deity behind. He opined that many people cannot understand the life they have led. Sulibele praised Sri Krishna Dhama Trust for developing Sri Krishna Dhama over the last 25 years and serving the society in a divine way.

Gracing the occasion, Suttur Seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji released the event commemorative volume 'Rajata Darshana'. Posthumous award was presented to late Herge Ramakrishna Bhat. Sri Vishwaprasanna Theertha Swamiji of Pejawar Mutt graced the occasion.

'Ayurveda and yoga can keep many ailments at bay'

Mysuru, June 3 (US&MK)- The Institution of Engineers (India), Mysuru Local Centre, under its weekly lecture series had organised a lecture on 'Modern health disorders, ayurveda and yoga management' by Dr.M.N. Sudha, Senior Consultant, Ayurveda and Yogic Science at its premises on JLB road here recently.

Dr. Sudha contended that ayurveda can gauge the age of a person and decide on the type of food to be taken during a particular season. With the advent of modern technology, pain has become a part of the body in daily life paving way for newer versions of diseases and disorders, observed Dr. Sudha.

Bengaluru has become a city for new type of diseases. The youth are going weak and ailments like diabetes, hypothyroidism and those pertaining to skin and brain are on the rise.

The kids too are not spared as they get involved more in video games leaving behind writing and reading, explained Dr. Sudha.

Referring to Ayurveda and Yoga, Dr. Sudha claimed that the two were from India but regretted that people here have been allured by the western culture.

She asserted that a regular practice of yoga and meditation coupled with healthy food and habits along with ayurveda can keep many ailments at bay. IEI Chairman Dr.R. Suresh, Hon. Secretary D.K. Dinesh Kumar and others were present.

Children portray environment protection through drawings

Mysuru, June 3 (US&MTY)- District Administration, Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) and other organisations together had organised a Drawing Contest for school students at Kalamandira premises here on Saturday under the theme 'Prevent Air Pollution'.

Over 120 students from Kautilya Vidyalaya, Avila Convent, Royal Concorde, Christ Public School, Kendriya Vidyalaya, Bhagini Seva Samaja and other schools participated in the event. About 35 students participated in the essay contest also held on the same theme.

The contests were held under three categories — Primary, Higher Primary and High School. Primary was excluded for essay writing. Three prizes will be given in each category. All the participating children were given tiffin boxes, water bottles and beverages along with chocolates.

KSPCB Mysuru Regional Officer A. Uday Kumar launched the contest. Environment Officer B.H. Prakash said that the prizes will be distributed on June 5 at a function to be held at Institute of Engineers on JLB Road here.

Janajagruthi Rural Development Institute Executive Director V.N. Murthy, Environment Officer B.P. Geetha, Deputy EO Manjunath, Assistant EO Nubia, Ashwini and others were present.

Senior Nurses presented

Florence Nightingale & Seva Ratna awards

The awardees are seen with District Minister G.T. Devegowda, former MLA Vasu and others during the function organised by the District Branch of the Karnataka State Government Nurses Association at the Platinum Jubilee auditorium in J.K. Grounds on Thursday.

Mysuru, June 3 (YDS&NNN)- There was a sea of white at the Platinum Jubilee auditorium in J.K. Grounds where 12 senior nurses were presented the 'Florence Nightingale' and 12 more were presented 'Seva Ratna' awards.

District Branch of the Karnataka State Government Nurses Association had organised the function here on Thursday last in which District Minister G.T. Devegowda presented 'Florence Nightingale' awards to PKTB and CD Hospital Senior Nurses Alice Florence Chrasta & Ambuja, Cheluvamba Hospital's S. Janakirani, ED Hospital's Mahadevamma, ESI Hospital's K.B. Shanthala, K.R. Hospital's P.M. Vanita, P.C. Chandravathi, A.K. Sheelamma, C. Vedavathi, Lakshmidevamma, Maternity Hospital's Meera, Nanjungud General Hospital's B.B. Vishalakshi and T. Narasipur General Hospital's H.P. Pramila.

Seva Ratna Award: The 'Seva Ratna' awards were presented to K.R. Hospital Senior Nurses T. Lakshmidevi, Madhu Malathi, N. Rajamma, P.A. Radha, P.J. Rosamma, Puttasiddamma, K. Regina, J.P. Nagar Primary Health Centre's K.P. Dhanalakshmi, Cheluvamba Hospital's Hemavathi, Government Nursing School final year student K.R. Chaitra, Government Nursing College's N.R. Diana and Nursing Training School final year student D.D. Chaitrashree.

Later, Minister G.T. Devegowda speaking said: "If doctors were like Gods to the patients, nurses were like Priests. However, when patients come to the hospital for treatment and nurses treat them with love and affection even they become Gods. Hence, the role of nurses in health sector assumes great significance."

"Abdul Kalam even when he was the President continued to be a scientist and he died while teaching. People like this always remain in our minds. Ostentatious living is never permanent, while a simple, meaningful and a full life always brings joy to everyone," he added.

Vasu lauded for his efforts: Lauding the efforts of former MLA Vasu, GTD said that since the last five years, Vasu had focused on health and education sector. When Siddharamaiah was the Chief Minister, he (Vasu) had brought to the notice of the Health Minister and seen to it that the hospital repair works and appointment of staff were taken up.

Vasu speaking said that the nurses after completing their degrees must not just limit themselves to take up nursing jobs but also should try to take up civil service exams like UPSC and KPSC and reach higher positions.

Nurses Association District President Shivamma, Mysore Medical College and Research Institute (MMC&RI) Principal Dr. K.R. Drakshayani, Cheluvamba Hospital Dean Dr. Radhamani, PKTB and ED Hospital Medical Superintendent Dr. H.M. Virupaksha, K.R. Hospital Medical Superintendent Dr. Nanjundaswamy, State Government Employees Association President H.K. Ramu, MMC&RI Chief Administrative Officer Gayathri, Nurses Association State President B.S. Bhyramma, General Secretary Vijaya Nayak, District Gen. Secretary Ratnamma and others were present.

Free Service from the time of Maharajas

KR Hospital and Cheluvamba Hospital have been rendering free service from the time of the Maharajas. When the Suluvadi incident occurred and I visited the hospital, the doctors told me that they do not have the ventilator. I had brought this issue to the notice of the Chief Minister and the Health Minister. In the Cabinet meeting held recently, I have brought up this issue again. The CM has assured that he will discuss this matter with the officials and take a decision. It has been brought to my notice that Siddharamaiah had assured seven acres of land for a Nursing College. Apart from this, I will also highlight the problems of suitable salaries, leave facility and other demands placed before me by the nurses with the Chief Minister.

—G.T. Devegowda, District Minister

WORD OF THE DAY

Folderol

Pronunciation: Fol·de·rol.
Meaning: A useless ornament or accessory; Trifle: Nonsense.

Origin: Hogwash. Claptrap. Hooey. Drivel. Malarkey. English is rife with words that mean "nonsense," and "folderol" is one of the many. Though not the most common of the words for nonsense, it's been around since 1820 and is still heard today. "Folderol" comes from "fol-de-rol" (or "fal-de-ral"), which used to be a nonsense refrain in songs, much like "tra-la-la." The oldest recorded instance of someone "singing folderol" occurs in Irish dramatist George Farquhar's 1701 play Sir Harry Wildair, in which a character sings, "Fal, al, deral!"
Example: I wish we could just discuss these questions without having to go through all the folderol of a formal meeting.
Wanted a dignified, simple wedding and not the folderol that the wedding planner was trying to foist on them.

THE ODD WORD

Futz

To waste time or busy oneself aimlessly.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Fifteen minutes of fame

Meaning: This is well-known as a quotation from Andy Warhol. It does derive from Warhol - his actual line was "In the future everybody will be world famous for fifteen minutes."

Origin: In February 1968 Warhol exhibited his first international retrospective exhibition at the Moderna Museet gallery in Stockholm. The exhibition catalogue contained "In the future everybody will be world famous for fifteen minutes." It is far and away the best-known of the many quotations attributed to Warhol, in fact it is probably the only comment of his that most people know. The line began to bore Warhol in later years when interviewers kept asking him about it. In 1979 he did repeat it though, claiming that the line had truth — "my prediction from the sixties finally came true: In the future everyone will be famous for fifteen minutes.".
As things have turned out the rise of celebrity culture and reality television in the Western world since then has shown Warhol to be quite prophetic. The rise of social media has turned his prophecy into fact — topics may be trending on social media and receiving worldwide attention and fifteen minutes later cease trending and be forgotten.

'Krishnanugraha' award
conferred on Dr. S.L. Bhyrappa

Mysuru, June 3 (YDS&US)- "A good literary work can be evolved only through serious thoughts with substance which can be achieved only through a good study of philosophy," opined renowned Novelist Dr. S.L. Bhyrappa. He was speaking after receiving the 'Krishnanugraha' award from Pejawar Seer Sri Vishwesha Theertha Swamiji on the 7th day of the 25th anniversary celebrations of Sri Krishna Dhama at its premises in Saraswathipuram here on Friday.

Dr. Bhyrappa contended that the root of philosophy is in Vedas. Philosophy when told directly is difficult to comprehend but easily understood if told in the form of a story which exactly was done by Valmiki, Vyasa, Kalidasa and others, he explained.

'Never aspired to become a writer'

"I wanted to read philosophy and did not aspire to become a writer. I lost my mother when I was 10 and my 5-year-old brother when I was 15 and cremated him carrying the body on my shoulder. I have seen agony of witnessing death at a very young age. Questions like why death is imminent and what happens after death were bothering me always. Once in a month or two, I used to see my mother in my dreams which would close, the moment I tried to touch her and I used to curse myself."

"I came to Mysuru for studies and asked Prof. Vamanacharya as to why death is inheritable. He gave me a book and asked me to read which I did but could not understand. Then he clarified that philosophy should be methodically studied to understand. Along with Indian Philosophy, I studied Western Philosophy which I taught also. I got a basic foundation through Philosophy. In the meanwhile I wrote 'Vamshavruksha' novel and then on, I learnt that I should take up writing and thus became a novelist recalled Dr. Bhyrappa.

'Leftists not welcome in society'

"Just after Independence, Prime Minister late Jawaharlal Nehru popularised Marxist theory which influenced the newcomers. With inputs from Western literature, leftists started influencing the society and entered Universities too and Indian entity started becoming questionable. That was when I was growing as a novelist. Many commented that I am not a writer but just a debater. Newspapers too did not support me and my novels were not reviewed. I did not bother and went on growing in literary world with abundant readers. My novels were translated to Hindi, Marathi and other languages. Now Marxist and leftist theories have been rejected by Indian Society," said Dr. Bhyrappa.

Dr. Bhyrappa said that Pejawar Seer has been holding a high esteem in society with thorough knowledge of literally every subject on the earth. "Fifteen days after my novel 'Aavarana' was published, the Swamiji called me and said that the novel should have been titled 'Anaavarana.' The Swamiji also advised me not to venture into early morning walks alone for six months after publication of 'Aavarana' and even suggested me to go for walk after sunrise with friends."

Continuing. Dr. Bhyrappa said that the Swamiji is well-versed with Indain Philosophy and modern literature and open for debate on any topic and added that many fear to participate dreading to be defeated badly.

Speaking on the occasion, Pejawar Seer commended Dr. Bhyrappa in projecting the historical tragedies of Indian History transparently and effectively through his (Bhyrappa) novels. Sri Vishwa Prasanna Theertha Swamiji of Pejawar Mutt, Sri Subudendra Theertha Swamiji of Manthralaya Mutt graced the occasion.

Valedictory

The valedictory of the 25th anniversary celebrations was held on June 1.

Speaking as the chief guest, District Minister G.T. Devegowda said that life is short which should be led with peace and harmony. To resolve the water crisis in city, he asserted that Undawadi Project would be the best solution.

Pejawar Seer Sri Vishwesha Theertha Swamiji said that ignorance should be burnt and not 'Bhagavad Gita' as someone had suggested. He likened the handle of a grinding stone to divinity which when held firmly can easily grind any hard substance.
